At the Keith Wednesday

Wednesday, March 29th the Oberammergau Peasant Players will appear at the Keith theatre.

Enthralling plays from rural-country scenes and comedies will be the main features of the troupe. All of their productions excel in realistic interpretations which is obtained by the naturalness and life-like productions. Nothing is studied, nothing is stilted; in their hearts dwells the art of the real mimic which also finds expression in their original dances and songs.

The naturalization of the characters which the authors have created for them comes to them quite naturally, and to see their plays is an unforgettable pleasure which no one should forego. It is advisable to reserve seats ahead, as the demand for them is growing daily.

Tickets may be had at the box office Monday evening, March 27th. Prices $1.00, 75c, 50c and 25c.

HOTEL McCABE OPENS

AT NOON WEDNESDAY

Without a blare of trumpets or a formal reception, the Hotel McCabe, North Platte's new $55,000 hostelry, was thrown open to the public at noon Wednesday and luncheon was served to 135 guests and supper to over 100. Many of the guests took the occasion to inspect the furnishings of the house, and it was acclaimed by all as most attractively furnished, well appointed and withal a hotel that North Platte can with reason feel proud and well satisfied.

In all its appointments the hotel is modern. The lobby, 22x75 feet, is attractively furnished, with lounging chair and writing desks finished in silver gray oak, supplied with telephone exchange, Brasko inverted lights and has a terrace floor. The dining room is 22x54, the furniture finished in golden oak and the sixteen tables have a seating capacity of 120. The floors are polished and runner rugs extend the full length between the center and side tables. A large Grafanola furnishes music during the meals. The kitchen and pantry are 54x22, and are complete with the most sanitary furnishings.

On the second and third floors there are forty-eight guest rooms furnished in fumed oak and each provided with telephone, running hot and cold water, and nearly all connected with a bath. The rooms are well ventilated and well lighted.

On the second floor is an attractively furnished parlor. Elevator service is at the command of the guests; in fact there is nothing lacking in the Hotel McCabe that is found in modern hotels.

In the basement are large sample rooms and toilet rooms.

The table linen, china and cutlery is of fine quality, and in keeping with the other furnishings of the hotel.

There has long been an apparent need for such a hotel as is the Hotel McCabe, and under the ownership and management of C. O. Weiland we predict it will at once take its rank among the best hotels in the state.

Passes Garbage Ordinance

At the meeting of the city council Tuesday evening the garbage ordinance, which had been drafted some time ago and discussed at partially rewritten, was passed. It provides for a garbage service extending from May 1st to November 1st. Each residence and business house must be provided with garbage cans with tight covers, and the refuse will be collected and hauled away at the cost of the city.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for hauling and dumping the garbage.

For Rent

An improved 640 acre stock ranch, in the Boxelder canyon, known as the Chas. Empe place. About 30 acres in cultivation. A fine stock proposition. Address, H. L. GRENSON, 19-4 Fairbury, Neb.

Bound Over to District Court

Morris Wilcox and Gamble Bryn, who were arrested last week for stealing a purse from George Mills at the depot, had a preliminary hearing before Judge French and were bound over to the district court under bond of $100 each. They furnished bond and left for Boise, Idaho. If they fail to appear at the fall term of district court the bond will be forfeited.

The Lutheran men will meet again this evening at the parish house. The subject for discussion will be Joshua's Great Choice; leader, Julius Hoga; Speakers, F. W. Hansen and Oscar Sandall. Another very interesting meeting was held last Friday evening.

Miss Marie Bowen is assisting in the local telephone office.

Claims Husband Has Deserted

Elnora Daggett filed a petition for divorce from Elmer Daggett in the district court yesterday for non-support and desertion. The plaintiff states that they were married May 2nd, 1905, in Gothenburg and that she had always conducted herself as a true, faithful and dutiful wife. She also states that eight years ago he became addicted to intoxicating liquor and treated her and the children in an abusive manner, causing them bodily harm and mental anguish and threatened to kill them.

The petition reads that although he is a healthy, able-bodied man and owns considerable property, both personal and real estate, that he refused to support the family and the plaintiff was obliged to work out for their maintenance and forced to leave her home for a long time in order that the children could attend school.

She therefore asks through her attorney that she be released from the marriage bond and have the custody of the three children, Vivian Marie age 10, Charles Rowland age 8, and Margaret Irene age 2, also alimony.
